

Charm of Country Life Draws Society From Town

Weddings in Country Places and Race Meets at Piping Rock Social Features of the Week—Still the Departures for Europe Grow—Engagements and Weddings

THE charm of country life is beginning to assert itself again, as has been shown by the entertainments of the week just ended. Weddings in country places and the race meets at Piping Rock have been the magnets that drew hundreds of prominent persons from town and the neighboring estates in Long Island.

The wedding of Miss Martha Bacon and George W. Whitney, formerly of Boston, found nearly 600 persons gathered for the sumptuous breakfast at the

Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, nee Julia Robbins.

Bacon country places in Westbury, L. I., on Tuesday. The wedding ceremony in the quaint little Church of the Advent was witnessed by a limited number, as the seating capacity is scarcely more than 200. Most of the guests for the subsequent festivities came from town by special train or automobile, and there was the usual representation of the Long Island contingent. The conditions of the day were ideal. The weather could not have been better, and the setting of the Bacon country place, surrounded as it is by a beautiful stretch of country, was one long to be remembered.

Three prominent weddings in town were those of Miss Julia Robbins and Lydig Hoyt, of Miss Mary Cutting Cumack and George R. Waustaff, and of Miss Constance Waldron Williams and John Taylor Terry, Jr., and from the attendance at each there did not seem to be any falling off as far as society in town is concerned. Many had no doubt come in from country places for these weddings.

The polo enthusiasts were in evidence yesterday at the wedding of Miss Katharine Hazard and Courlandt Dixon Moss, which was celebrated in St. John's Church, Far Rockaway, the reception and breakfast following at Meadow Hall, the country place of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. William Ayeroff Hazard and afterward there was a polo match at the Rockaway Hunt Club, which rejoins Mr. Hazard's place.

Piping Rock, with its two days of racing, brought out many enthusiasts, and according to statements made by those who have recently come from England, this club is now superior to any of this week will be centered in the polo matches at Meadow Brook, and afterward there will be small inducements to tarry in the vicinity of New York.

There have been hosts of seagoers departing from these shores during the past week. The Duchess de Chaulnes, accompanied by her young son, and her sister, Miss Marguerite Shonts, sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm II., and they will pass the summer in France. Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson, who were on the same steamer, will remain abroad for the entire summer and will go to Long Island for the autumn. Mrs. Frank E. Hagemeyer and her daughter, Miss Evelyn Scott, one of the debutantes of last winter, who left recently on the Olympic, will visit while in Paris Miss Washington, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice and Lady Spring-Rice, Mrs. William Metcalf Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marion Ward, Lady Bullock, wife of Gen. Sir Frederick Bullock, Governor of Bermuda, and Miss Bullock; Mrs. C. Bower Ismay, Mr. and Mrs. William Crittenden Adams, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Kingsland, Miss Ethel Kingsland, Mr. E. Parsons Morgan, the Misses Morgan, Mrs. Lincoln Rae Peabody, Miss Constance Peabody, Mrs. John C. Tomlinson, Gen. McCoskey Butt, L. Stuyvesant Chantler, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan H. Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. De Forest, Miss Emily De Forest, Mr. and Mrs. J. Philip Benard, Miss Winifred Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Hoe, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Maxwell, Miss Madeleine Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jennings and the Misses Jennings.

Newport is preparing for an interesting and busy season, and there will be at least one wedding there, that of Miss Josephine Southwick Pearson, elder daughter of Mrs. Frederick Pearson, to Beverly Bogert. It will be celebrated late in August, at Anglesea, her mother's villa at Ochre Point. Mrs. Pearson and her daughters, who are now in Europe, will arrive in Newport about the middle of July.

The dog show will not be held at the casino as in former years, but in one of the pavilions on Easton's Beach, which will be all the better for every one concerned. The date set for this show is August 6. There will be polo from July 18 to August 29 and the lawn tennis tournament will begin late, not until August 24, lasting into the next month. The annual horse show, which winds up the gay part of the season, will begin on September 7 and will continue three days.

Mrs. Alexander J. Cassatt of Philadelphia, who was in Newport last season, has leased for the summer Stoneacre, the villa of Mrs. Lee Thomas, which is in Bellevue avenue, and she is expected to arrive there next week. Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas have decided to pass the summer in Newport and they have recently leased the Whitney Warren villa in Clay street, where they are to go shortly after the polo matches. Mrs. Warren and her daughter, Miss Gabrielle Warren, are now in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Dulany Howland, who have taken the small villa on the Manhattan, have not expected to occupy it before the second week in July, and they will be for a while in Red Bank, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James have arrived at Beacon Hill House, which is one of the show places, and they left New York on board the Aloha, which will be kept in commission all summer. Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren are already at Seaford, where they expect, during the summer, a visit from their son-in-law and daughter, Count and Countess Guy de Lasteyrie.

Society was greatly interested in the engagement announced recently of Miss Maud Arden Kennedy, daughter of Mrs. H. Van Rensselaer Kennedy, to Eric S. Winston of this city.

Miss Kennedy, who was among the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Mary Cutting Cumack and George B. Waustaff in St. George's Church on Thursday, is a first cousin of Miss Julia Robbins, who was married in the chapel there on Wednesday to Lydig Hoyt. She was introduced to society two years ago and, like her fiancé, has been prominent at several of the leading outdoor sporting fixtures held on Long Island each season, particularly at the hunt and race meets. Miss Kennedy is also a dog fancier and, with her elder sister, Miss Marian V. R. Kennedy, has exhibited prize winning Pomeranians and Irish terriers at the bench shows of each season in New York and Long Island. Mrs. Kennedy and her daughters pass a good deal of their time at the family country place in Hempstead, L. I.

Mr. Winston, who was graduated from Harvard in 1912, is the son of the late Dr. Gustavus Winston and a grandson of Frederick Winston. With his brother, G. Owen Winston, he makes his home at 155 East Twenty-first street, and during the summer months in Bernardsville, N. J., where they have a country place, the Maples. Their mother is now Mrs. A. Walpole Craigie. No date has been mentioned for the wedding.

Another engagement recently announced was that of Miss Alice Blaine Damrosch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damrosch, to Hall Pleasant Pennington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josias Pennington of Baltimore, Md.

Miss Damrosch is a granddaughter of the late James G. Blaine and is related to many prominent families in this city. She was introduced to society four years ago, and since her debut has taken an active part in the amateur theatrical entertainments given by young people of society each season. She was in the cast of the morality play "Mankyd" given at the Plaza and the Waldorf-Astoria last winter. The Misses Gretchen and Polly Damrosch are her younger sisters.

Mr. Pennington is a descendant of one of the oldest families in Maryland. He was graduated from Princeton in 1910 and is now finishing a course in architecture at the Beaux Arts in Paris. The wedding will take place probably in the early fall.

Mrs. Daniel E. Moran has announced the engagement of her granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth B. DeLafayette, to Philip G. Birkhead, son of Mrs. W. H. Birkhead of this city. Mr. Birkhead is a member of the Union and Squadron A clubs. No date has been set for the wedding.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Cornelia Redmond, daughter of
